Town of Kirkland Planning Board

I'm writing in regard of the proposed "Windmills" on Spring Farm Cares. I think that Spring Farm or Anybody should be able to put up windmills on their property. Everyone complains about the amount of oil we have to import, but won't let anyone do anything to help stop the use. When you mention Chuckery Corners, Paris Hill or Sky Line Drive, what do you think of? "Wind". Let put to use to what God has given us.

How much time every day do people spend looking at the horizon? We have such beauty, you just have to look in another direction if you don't like to see a windmill. I don't see them looking as bad as some homes that are being built on hill tops

Importance of Context

Information about the where a document is located and why it was collected and preserved gives educators and students much needed context often not found in the document alone.
The individuals who manage the records can provide this context by giving the teacher or student information about the larger collection in which the document is held and how it came to be held by their organization.

LGRMIF Grants

Historical Records Category

Educational Uses – Maximum $75,000

This category supports projects that propose to use local government records as teaching tools in the community and in the classroom. Educational Uses projects promote the management of local government records and increase public awareness of the educational and historical value of these records. Many projects under this category also address state standards for K-12 education.

Specific eligible activities include:

- Developing websites, brochures, exhibits, walking tours, or other products that use local government records to educate the public and students about community history, the value of records, or other subjects.
- Preparing document-based instructional materials for classroom use, including a collection of documents relating to a particular topic, historical background information about the topic and learning activities that incorporate the documents into classroom instruction.
- Developing programs to train teachers to use local government records as teaching tools in the classroom.
